University Teaching (Mount Saint Vincent University [MSVU] Halifax, Nova Scotia, Canada – 30 years)

2015-2024	After retirement supervised two MSVU doctoral students (one to candidacy)
2014-2019	After retirement – Faculty of Education part-time - taught Independent Studies (Family Studies Teaching Methods I and II)
July 2014 retired	Retired after 30 years. MSVU Senate conferred honorary rank Professor Emerita http://www.msvu.ca/en/home/programsdepartments/education/facultyresearch/drsuemcgregor.aspx
2000-2014	MSVU Faculty of Education Tenured, Full Professor. Taught courses in the BEd program when appropriate and in each of the Educational Foundations, and Curriculum Studies graduate program as well as the then-new doctoral program (see below). BEd courses included teaching for peace and justice, global education, CALM/HPDR curriculum and instruction, family studies methods I and II, advanced family studies curriculum, and advanced educational foundations seminar. Graduate courses prepared and/or taught included Focus on Research Literacy, Methodological Perspectives on Educational Research (PhD), Education for Sustainable Development, Globalization and Education, Leadership in Social Contexts, Transformative Curriculum Practice, Curriculum Leadership, Peace in a Consumer Society (summer institutes), Peace and Social Justice Theory and Pedagogy (2 different courses), and Global Education Theory and Pedagogy (2 different courses). Also supervised graduate theses and independent studies (see end of CV). See next section on University Administration MSVU, and University Administration, Committees, and Service (p. 49)
1984-1999	MSVU Home Economics Department (subsequently Human Ecology Department) as Lecturer. Member for 15 years until the department was restructured, to put it politely, into the current Family Studies and Gerontology Department. Taught graduate-level Consumer Education, Family Financial Management, and International Consumer Policy. Taught 11 undergraduate courses mostly related to family and consumer issues, economics, behaviour, studies, education, and policy. Also taught Introduction to Human Ecology, the Senior Seminar, Family Policy, and each of Clothing Construction, Special Fabrics, and Textile Science courses. (Co)supervised student teachers, graduate theses, directed studies, and undergraduate honours theses (see end of CV). Moved through ranks/status/credentials of Lecturer (MSc) (1984), Assistant (1990), Tenure (1992), PhD (1993), Associate (1995) and Full Professor (1998).

MSVU Faculty of Education Administration

May 2010-Dec 2011	Inaugural Doctoral Program Coordinator for Nova Scotia Inter-university Doctoral Program in Educational Studies, MSVU (3-year elected term, served 20 months with term ending with sabbatical leave); Chaired Inter-University Doctoral Administrative Committee (IDAC)

(elected three-year term; served 20 months) for PhD in Educational Studies (MSVU, Acadia, and ST. F. X.) https://www.nsphdeducation.ca/Member of Inter-University Doctoral Governance Committee (IDGC) (comprising three VP Academics, three-year elected term; served 20 months).

Work on IDAC involved designing and implementing the website portal for the PhD program (required ongoing, meticulous daily management and leadership) and all attendant forms (approved by IDAC) to facilitate administration to and progress through the program. I wrote each of the (a) IDAC Terms of Reference , (b) Doctoral Student Handbook and (c) Supervisor/Doctoral Student Relationship Handbook (all IDAC approved). I prepared documentation required for the NS government to recognize the doctoral program as part of the student loan program. I comanaged one staff person - the Doctoral Program Administrative Assistant.

July 2007-2010 Director of Graduate Education, Faculty of Education (elected 3-year term, seven graduate programs). I coordinated a comprehensive 200-page Education Graduate Program self-study and five external graduate program reviews (prepared two 70-page self studies and undertook statistical analyses for two other self studies). Comanaged one person, the Administrative Assistant to Graduate Education. Served as acting Director of Teacher Education (July 2009).

Related to the PhD initiative, while Grad Director, I was also the lead writer on the Inter-university Committee on Teacher Education (ICTE) sub-committee's final proposal for an inter-university PhD in Educational Studies; approved by the Maritime Provinces Higher Education Commission (MPHEC) July 2009, launched fall 2010 (see above).

Sept 2009-May 2010 While Director of Graduate Education, I was also the Interim Doctoral Program Coordinator - member of the Interim Inter-University Doctoral Administrative Committee (I-IDAC) (with ST. F. X and Acadia universities). During this time (9 months), I lead the process of ensuring that each of the three university Senates approved the doctoral program courses and calendar entries. I prepared Senate course proposals for seven doctoral courses and a generic preamble that served as an introduction to the process for those approving the courses at all three universities - all approved by IDAC with final doctoral degree approved by MPHEC in 2009 (see above), which said the proposal was the gold standard for future submissions.

2006-2007, 2009 Coordinator, Educational Foundations Graduate Program; Acting Coordinator Jan-June 2009.

2003-2006 Coordinator of three Peace and Social Justice Graduate cohorts

MSVU Peace and Conflict Studies Program Administration

1999-2006 Coordinator, undergraduate Peace and Conflict Studies Program (7 years inclusive). Enrolment increased 940% during my tenure. Conducted a 40-page self-study of the program in 2006 for a scheduled MPHEC External Review. I reluctantly left this rewarding position when I assumed the Faculty of Education Director of Graduate Education position in 2007 (see above).

PUBLICATIONS

PhD DISSERTATION AND MASTER THESIS

1993 Consumer policy - A social network/political economy perspective. Unpublished doctoral dissertation, University of Strathclyde, Glasgow Scotland. Advisor: Dr. Keith Fletcher. This research entailed the development of a macro-relational consumer policy framework that was used to analyze the 20-year policy development process for banking machines and debit cards, federal Canadian consumer policy. The method involved a content analysis of 230 documents culminating in 16 constituent case studies integrated into a chronological 20-year embedded case study. The data in the embedded case study were analyzed from a network perspective. The latter entailed examining the relational data for evidence of the evolution of relationships and interactions among the members of the EFTS policy network comprising actors from the computer payment system policy community. 7 peer-reviewed papers published from this research.

1984 Process model of family consumer decisions. Unpublished master thesis, University of Alberta, Edmonton. Advisor: Dr. Betty Crown (Drs. Doris Badir and Linda Van Esch committee members). This research generated a process model to represent the level of involvement of the collection of family members as they make a high-involvement consumer decision. It varies from consumer behaviour and marketing models in that it conceives "the family" as the unit of analysis rather than the individual consumer with the family as a reference group. One peer-reviewed paper published from this research.

UNIVERSITY ADMINISTRATION, COMMITTEES, AND SERVICE

2010 (May)-2011(Dec) elected Doctoral Program Coordinator (Faculty of Education, three year term). I served 20 months, term ending with 2012 sabbatical. I was also the elected Chair of the IDAC (PhD administrative committee), which also involved sitting on the Inter-University Doctoral Governance Committee (IDGC), each a three-year term. Again, I served 20 months with term ending with 2012 sabbatical.

While elected Director of Graduate Education in the Faculty of Education (2007-2010), I sat on the university Graduate Studies Program and Policy Committee (GSPPC) as the Dean's designate and attended meetings of the Inter-University Committee for Teacher Education (ICTE (Acadia, STFX, MSVU, St. Anne, and UCB). I sat on the ICTE sub-committee for the inter-university joint doctoral program proposal for a PhD in Educational Studies, acting as lead author (2007-09). This degree was approved by the Maritime Provinces Higher Education Commission (MPHEC) in 2009 and officially launched at all three universities in September 2010. I sat on the newly inaugurated Faculty of Education Dean's Advisory Board (2007-2010) and the Atlantic Provinces Special Education Association's (APSEA) Program Advisory Committee. I chaired the Departmental Review Committee (DRC) for reappointment, tenure and promotion (2007-2010, nearly 15 files). I was a member of the 2008 Education Faculty Restructuring Task Force. In 2008-09, I prepared a 70-page self-study of the Graduate Program for the mandated MPHEC external review process, a self-study for Educational Foundations, co-authored a self-study of Educational Psychology (2010) and vetted the Studies in Lifelong Learning self study (2010).

I was elected to the Senate Committee on Information Technology and Services (SCOITS), 2010-2011, stepping down due to 2012 sabbatical. Before all of this, during 27 years at MSVU, I held other university service positions. I was an appointed member of a University Appeal Committee (2009). I held positions on the University Review Committee for Promotion, Tenure and Reappointment (URC) (2006-07), Senate committee for academic appointments of administrators (Professor Emeritus, Honorary Chairs, Deans) (CAPTAA) (2006-07), University Senate (1997-1998), Faculty Association, Faculty Council (early 90s), and Faculty of Education hiring committee (DAC). I served on the Faculty of Education DRC for two years before becoming its Chair for three years. I also served on the Human Ecology DRCs and DACs in the 1990s. I was co-chair (and committee member) of the Education Department's Ethics Review Committee (2002-2007). I was a member of the Library Committee (80s), Faculty Association's Social Committee (86), and the committee that authored the first Collective Agreement for MSVU (1987-1988).
